

Financial support when you have cancer: quick guide

This leaflet outlines what financial support is available for patients with a cancer diagnosis. Information is correct as of April 2018.

Benefits available because you cannot work

If you are employed you are entitled to statutory sick pay from your employer and then could be eligible for new-style Employment and Support Allowance after 28 weeks. You may also be paid contractual sick pay from your company, according to your contract of employment. If you are self-employed you can claim Employment and Support Allowance.

Benefits because your illness causes you to have difficulty walking or taking care of yourself

- Personal Independence Payment is available if you are under 65 (replacing Disability Living Allowance from 10 June 2013 for new claimants). To qualify you need to have had problems for 3 months and they need to be likely to exist for a further 9 months. This benefit is not means-tested or taxable.
- Attendance Allowance is available if you are 65 and over. To qualify you need to have had problems for 6 months. This benefit is not means-tested.
- Either of the above could entitle someone else to claim Carer's Allowance for looking after you.

Benefits because you are on a low income

- If you are under the retirement age (currently for women about 64 years), and have savings of less than £16,000, you may be entitled to additional income related benefits, in the form of universal credit, even if you are working.

- If you are over 63 years of age, you may be entitled to Pension Credit, Housing Benefit and Council Tax Reduction, even if you have savings over £16,000.
- Universal Credit has been introduced fully in West Berkshire and will be introduced from 11 April 2018 in East Berkshire. It replaces most means-tested benefits for working age people (except Council Tax Support). You will need to apply on-line and have an email address. Go to www.gov.uk to apply.

Benefits because you have a terminal illness

If you have a terminal illness you are likely to have automatic entitlement to Personal Independence Payment or Attendance Allowance. Seek further advice as soon as possible.*

How to claim benefits

- For Company and Statutory Sick Pay, ask your employer (Personnel/Human Resources).
- For Personal Independence Payment, telephone 0800 917 2222.
- For Attendance Allowance application forms phone 0845 712 3456; and for Carer's Allowance claim packs phone 0845 608 4321 (or go to website www.gov.uk).
- For Council Tax Reduction forms, contact your local council benefits section.
- For Pension Credit phone 0800 99 1234.

Further information:

More detailed information can be obtained from:

www.gov.uk (government website); and;

www.citizensadvice.org.uk (Citizens Advice public website)

The Macmillan information booklet 'Help with the Cost of Cancer' (this can be obtained from the Macmillan Information Centre in the Berkshire Cancer Centre (Royal Berkshire Hospital) and at the Macmillan Information Desk at Wexham Park Hospital.

To seek further advice

To speak to someone on a more personal basis for detailed information and advice please contact:

1. Local Citizens Advice.
2. The Macmillan Support Line on 0808 808 0000
3. If you have followed the above advice and are having difficulty getting benefits into payment, need help with an appeal against a benefit decision or feel you need more help and advice regarding your benefit claim, then please either drop in to the Macmillan Information Centre in the Berkshire Cancer Centre, Mon-Fri 10am-2pm or ask your Clinical Nurse Specialist to make a referral to the Macmillan Berkshire Benefits Service based in the Royal Berkshire Hospital. This offers the option of face to face advice if required.

This document can be made available in other languages and formats upon request.