

Gastroscopy with throat spray aftercare advice

Introduction

Today you have had a gastroscopy – an examination of your stomach. You are unlikely to have any serious side effects but please be aware of the following:

- Your throat may feel slightly sore for a few hours.
- You may also feel a little bloated if some air used in the procedure has been left inside.

These things will pass and there is no need for any medication.

Serious side effects from this procedure are rare, however if you have any problems with:

- A persistent sore throat.
- Worsening chest or abdominal pain.

Please contact your GP immediately, informing them that you have had a gastroscopy.
